CCCR is an all volunteer group dedicated to the protection of wetlands through advocacy and education. Our founding organization actively worked with Congressman Don Edwards to establish our country's first urban national wildlife refuge - and then to expand the size of the original Refuge footprint. Despite rising sea levels, and losses of 85% of the Bay's historic tidal wetlands, massive developments continue to be proposed along the edges of the bay. Please join us in our efforts to protect the Bay's resources for current and future generations.
